20. Venti Home

967Arch

DESCRIPTION

Venti Home perfectly expresses the present trend to the dynamic and shared job. A job that, if necessary, may become highly independent. An attitude also adopted at home, where, for a few years, home office spaces have been created, i.e. real active corners to work either continuously or temporarily. The home working desk has a small drawer that can be accessed through a flap door on the desktop with a hydraulic lift; it can be used as a little compartment for small everyday items, stationery, smartphones or tablets. The front of the desk is notable for its Divina Melange cloth bag, which combines the functionality of a little space for storing objects or magazines with the iconic image of a soft, domestic, and textural object.
