Hold Pendant

Sklo

DESCRIPTION

Both a pendant light and a perfect expression of handblown glass. Using the compelling hold vessel as a diffuser, the hold pendant hangs on a double-ended brass hook which in turn hangs from a simple solid brass loop at the canopy. Available in two versions, the hold 18 (with full-sized hold vessel diffuser) and the hold 12 (with a smaller version of the hold vessel), each version comes in four standard overall lengths. The socket is housed in a brass cup, hung independently on its own exposed fabric-wrapped electrical cord, suspending the bulb within the glass. The glass is handblown without the use of molds, so no two are exactly alike.
