Keel

RODOLFO DORDONI

DESCRIPTION

The Keel coffee table takes its name from the English word for the steel structure along the base of a boat, due to its blade supports that mimic the shape, and three-dimensionally characterize the tops. The top can be round, square or rectangular, and it features an original architecture thanks to the 45° angle at which the edge is cut, chiseled towards the bottom. The top is proposed in contoured Dedalus marble (only for the round tops Ø cm120 and 140 and the 120x120 and 180x110 cm tops) in matt lacquered eucalyptus or with glossy lacquered finish in the colors Army Green, Moka, Cappuccino and Ice. The coffee tables are available in different heights and various sizes and rest on three legs in Brandy-colored polished aluminum.
